THE CEO MESSAGE

Atlantech Africa strives to better company experiences in vehicle security and also secure the lives of vehicle users, being part of a wider society offering almost similar solutions. Our growth over the last few years has seen several major vehicle tracking and other vehicle security development plans moved forward and completed ahead of schedule as well as the launch of some industry leading features. All new products under-go rigorous testing and are not released without positive user feedback.

Launched in 2018, it has been a journey getting to the point where we can say that we are almost there, but thanks to our belief in the struggle and support from our most trusted partners, here we are.

I must say that I am a proud Chief Executive Officer with a sound mental attitude and as long as I am heading the company, I will always be led by the motive of providing safety and security to our customers. I am thankful to my team for the support I have received since inception because this would have been impossible without them. They know themselves.

As much as we would like to look at our services as a business, we are still driven by the satisfaction of our customers and our ability to provide solutions that can make a difference. That is what separates us from our competitors. We bring a hands-on, personal touch to the table and treat our customers like one of our own. Our services, our team showcase the pure intention of care and commitment that makes us who we are.

It is not always the most established companies that offer the best product or service. Just because a company has been established longer, it does not necessarily make them the best or most secure option. Because we have more time to listen and build relationships with all of our customers, we can provide a better service at a better rate.

Our product range continues to grow with constant investment. We pride ourselves on listening to our customers and developing vehicle security solutions based on the ideas, requests and requirements that any customer may have. We aspire to fulfil all requests to create the best bespoke system possible that has been specifically tailored to each company's needs.

As a parting shot, I am very thankful to my customers and partners who have always supported us and have been the core drivers of our success. We value every support and criticism which in turn drives our innovations and better service delivery.
